bachelor of education consecutive programs

All admission materials are due December 1st by 4pm (no exceptions)

GENERAL INFORMATION

If you have already completed an undergraduate degree, you may qualify to study in the full-time or part-time consecutive program. Graduates earn a Bachelor of Education degree and are recommended to the Ontario College of Teachers for an Ontario Certificate of Registration.

If you have not completed an undergraduate degree and are at the start or midway through your university studies, you may qualify to study in the concurrent program. For more information, call BEd Student Services at 416 736- 5001.

York's Faculty of Education draws on the best in academia and the teaching profession, to provide theoretical and practical programs that are socially relevant. We are committed to finding new ways to address equity, social justice and environmental issues in our programs. As a York student, you will study the social and philosophical foundations of education, professional rights and responsibilities, theories of communication and human development, planning, pedagogy, and curriculum development. York University's Faculty of Education carefully selects host schools that will offer teacher candidates exposure to different teaching settings. For this reason, applicants cannot find their own practicum placements.

Admission to York University's Faculty of Education is a competitive process for very limited spaces. Typically 4,500 applicants compete for approximately 600-650 spaces in the Consecutive program. Fulfillment of minimum requirements will not guarantee admission. Selection is based on grade point average, related age-specific experience, a personal statement, an interview and two letters of reference. The strength of one applicant's file is relative to the rest of the applicant pool for that given year.

Applicants can apply to either the full-time or the part-time consecutive program (not both). If admitted into the three-year part-time consecutive program, applicants are not permitted to transfer into the one-year full-time consecutive program. They must re-apply for the next admission cycle. Applicants can only select one certification level (Primary/Junior, Junior/Intermediate, or Intermediate/Senior) and changes from one certification level to another will not be accepted after the application deadline.

A non-refundable university supplementary fee must be submitted to the Ontario University Application Centre (OUAC) along with the TEAS application and appropriate OUAC application fee. The OUAC fee, any transcript request fees or other choice fees will not be refunded. When applicants drop a choice, the supplementary fees they paid for that faculty of education will not be refunded, nor can they be applied to another school choice.

It is the applicant's responsibility to ensure that the application, fees and all supporting documentation are received at the correct offices by the published deadlines. Applicants must read all instructions carefully. Failure to comply with the admission requirements and deadlines may result in the cancellation of the application.

If an applicant applied previously to York University (either to the Faculty of Education or to another faculty at York for undergraduate studies), the applicant should indicate this on the OUAC form under "Previous Year Applied" so that it can be determined if a York University student identification number exists in the student information system.

The supplementary application will be only available online and will not be mailed to applicants. The application will be available as of the middle or end of September and instructions to access this application will be available online at http://edu.yorku.ca/bed/apply_ft_consec.html. Please do not call the Faculty of Education to request the Supplementary application. Faxed or electronic submissions will not be accepted under any circumstances. Late and incomplete applications will not be considered. It is the responsibility of the applicant to ensure that the application package is complete by the application deadline date. The Faculty of Education will not accept additional documentation (i.e. course descriptions, English Language Test, transcripts, etc) submitted after the deadline date. Applicants will not be notified if their application is incomplete.

Documentation in support of applications filed in a specific year will not be returned or copied for applicants, nor forwarded to third parties prior to being destroyed after one additional application cycle. Reference letters will be re-used at the applicant's request if the applicant submitted an application the year prior. York University complies with the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FIPPA) which applies to all Ontario universities. Details related to an applicant's transcripts will not be discussed with individuals other than the applicant. Parents, spouses, other family members, and friends cannot discuss admission on behalf of the applicant unless explicit permission is provided in writing. Photo identification for the applicant and the designate person must be provided in person at the Faculty of Education.

Personal information submitted by an applicant for admission purposes is collected under the authority of Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act and The York University Act, 1965. The information will be used to process applications and will form part of the student record at the Faculty of Education. If a student is unsuccessful with his/her application for entry into one of our Education programs, the applicant's record will be kept for one year and can be used in the next admission cycle should the student re-apply. If a student is admitted, registered and enrolled at our Faculty of Education, the admission documents will be kept until one year after completing or leaving the program. Reference letters, interviewer comments, and any information related to the rank order of an applicant, in order to determine interview or admission decisions, are not shared with applicants.

HOW TO APPLY

All required admission materials must be received by no later than 4:00 pm on December 1 in the Faculty of Education's BEd Student Services office, 128 Winters College. This includes submission of the online TEAS application through the Ontario Universities Application Centre, the Faculty of Education online supplementary application (which includes the Experience Summary and Profile, Personal Statement and two referees), official transcripts, course descriptions for courses that do not have clear indication of the teaching subject equivalencies, and test results for oral and written English proficiency (if applicable). Visit the Faculty of Education Web site at http://edu.yorku.ca/bed/apply_ft_consec.html for more information.

Please ensure that any document you submit to the office has your surname, followed by your first name and OUAC Reference number, and are clearly visible at the top right-hand corner of each page. We ask that you also indicate the page number on each page to ensure we have your complete submission. We will not contact applicants if they are missing any documents.

Applications will not be processed unless receipt of all necessary documents and full payment are received. Cheques, money orders or electronic credit card (MasterCard or Visa) payments must be received by TEAS by the stated deadline date.

Official transcripts for Ontario universities must be ordered by completing the TEAS Transcript Request Form (TRF) and submitting it to the OUAC with the TEAS application by December 1. All other transcripts ordered directly from postsecondary institutions must arrive at the Faculty of Education's BEd Student Services office by the same date. We require official transcripts sent directly from the home university.

Many Ontario Faculties of Education accept documents and assessments from WES. It may be easier for you to submit one set of documents to WES and have them forward them to your universities of choice (note: it is the applicant's responsibility to check with each university to find out if they accept WES documents).

Notarized photocopies of documents in the possession of, or submitted directly by an applicant, will NOT be accepted under any circumstances.

An acceptable level of proficiency in oral and written English is required by the deadline date, and must be no more than two years old. You will not be contacted if this information is missing, and your file will not be considered. Please see page 5 for more information. You may contact BEd Student Services at 416-736-5001 if you are uncertain you are eligible for an exemption from the English Language Proficiency Test requirements.

FULL-TIME OPTION

In the full-time program, you will enrol in the BEd degree for an extended academic year (from the last week in August until the end of May). Teacher candidates usually spend two to three days a week in their classes and two days a week at a York-partnered host school for their practicum. There are continuous block placements at several points during the year. During teaching blocks, candidates are required to be at their host school Monday to Friday inclusive. Schedules may vary from site to site. York's Faculty of Education offers its consecutive teacher education programs at various on- and off-campus locations in and around the Greater Toronto Area. Teaching subjects are taught weekly at the Keele Campus for Intermediate/Senior teacher candidates. Not all certification levels are offered at all sites. While some sites offer Primary/Junior, Junior/Intermediate and Intermediate/Senior streams, others offer specializations and a curriculum adjusted to better address the target group of teacher candidates. For more information on the different sites for our consecutive teacher education program, visit http://edu.yorku.ca/bed/consec_sites.html.

PART-TIME OPTION

The three-year part-time program – Primary/Junior, Junior/Intermediate, and Intermediate/Senior – is an alternative option for studying the Bachelor of Education at York University. Courses are taken at the Keele and Glendon (French) campuses with Concurrent students. Applicants to our three-year part-time Consecutive program can choose the Jewish Teacher Education, Indigenous Teacher Education or French Immersion as program options, which include additional coursework in order to focus on specific classroom settings. Applicants to the BEd (French) degree also will be assessed on their French proficiency (written and oral) at the time of their interview. In the part-time program, teacher candidates must be available for daytime courses which can be spread over several weekdays, not including practicum placements which involve one full weekday per week, plus continuous teaching blocks in May. We offer only a few evening classes. This part-time program is not designed for individuals who work full-time and wish to study only on evenings, weekends or online. The BEd (French) classes primarily take place at the Glendon campus with the BEd concurrent students. The Jewish Teacher Education and the Indigenous Teacher Education options are offered at all three certification levels and classes take place at York's Keele campus. An additional application is not necessary for the BEd (French), Jewish Teacher Education, and Indigenous Teacher Education options. Applicants should proceed with the regular TEAS application for York University to Primary/Junior (Y10), Junior/Intermediate (Y20) or Intermediate/Senior (Y30) and applicants should indicate their preference for these specialized program options on York's online supplementary application. Visit <http://edu.yorku.ca/bed/ptconsecutive.html> for more information on these program options.

When students are admitted to the Faculty of Education at York University, they are offered admission to a particular site location and when an applicant accepts the offer of admission, he/she is accepting to study at that specified site location. There is no guarantee that site changes can occur. Although an applicant may request a site change, it will depend on space availability and in many cases a site change is not possible and students are expected to study at their assigned site. All applicants are asked to research the site locations at http://edu.yorku.ca/bed/consec_sites.html before they apply and to plan ahead how they will commute to all their classes and to their practicum placements.

ACCESS INITIATIVE

The Faculty of Education Access Initiative is designed to recruit individuals who will make excellent teachers and reflect the diversity of our society. It is this mix of people and perspectives that enriches our programs and creates a community of teachers who excel in professional practice and in other walks of life both in Canada as well as internationally. We do recognize that certain groups in our society are treated inequitably because of individual and systemic barriers related to a number of factors including race, social class, culture, and refugee experience. We also recognize that such biases exist within educational institutions. In keeping with York's commitment to equal access to teacher education, our admissions policies are designed to assess the potential of all candidates, in particular those who have faced systemic barriers in educational settings and in their lives. The Faculty of Education Access Initiative is designed to recruit, admit, and support such individuals. We invite students from the following underrepresented groups to apply through the Access Initiative:

- Aboriginal (First Nations, Métis, Inuit, Status, Non-Status, Aboriginal Ancestry)
- People with disabilities (as defined by the Ontario Human Rights Code)
- Racialized Person (A racialized group is a group of people who may experience social inequities on the basis of their perceived common racial background, colour and/or ethnicity, faith and who may be subjected to differential treatment in the society and its institutions. Examples may include: people of African descent, people of Asian descent, Latinos)
- Other Minoritized Person (Please specify other identity categories that apply to you and have affected your educational experience. For example: people living in poverty; sexual orientation; English Language Learner, refugee or impacted by the refugee experience)

We encourage students who apply through the Access Initiative to also include in your personal statement reference to the individual and/or systemic barriers you have encountered. Explain how your learning through these experiences might be valuable when building relationships and working with diverse groups of students. For more information, email access@edu.yorku.ca.

PROFICIENCY IN ENGLISH

York University's Faculty of Education reserves the right to request a language proficiency test result. An English language proficiency test score is required for applicants who do not have English as their first language. The language proficiency test requirement will be waived only for applicants whose mother tongue or first language is English or who have studied full-time for at least two years (or equivalent in part-time studies) at an accredited university where the language of instruction and examination is English and which is located in a country where the first language is officially English. In countries, such as India or Pakistan, where students may study in English at university, English is considered their working language, but not their official language and these applicants are required to submit English language proficiency test results. If you are not from one of the countries listed below, you are required to write an English language proficiency test:

In order to become certified to teach in Ontario, the Ontario College of Teachers requires two items – a recommendation from a Faculty of Education and official transcripts from all post-secondary institutions indicating degrees conferred. The Faculty of Education will automatically send the recommendation to the Ontario College of Teachers after the convocation ceremony provided graduating BEd students have submitted their OCT registration numbers to BEd Student Services. Students are responsible for sending their own official transcripts to the Ontario College of Teachers. The Faculty of Education does not issue transcripts.

Individuals who are internationally trained as teachers and are immigrants to Canada should contact the Ontario College of Teachers to find out what is required to be certified to teach in Ontario. Please visit their website at www.oct.ca/IET/?lang=en-CA. If courses or practicum placements are required, please apply as a Special Student to request enrolment. For more information, please contact the Faculty of Education's BEd Student Services in 128 Winters College. For those who must complete the entire Bachelor of Education (BEd) at York University, they will be considered for admission under regular admission procedures.

TEACHING SUBJECTS

It is the applicant's responsibility to check directly with the Faculty of Education for admission information and teaching subject requirements. Advice from other faculties and/or printed materials not published by the Faculty of Education at York University is not official. For Junior/Intermediate and Intermediate/Senior divisions, course descriptions for courses that do not have a clear indication of the teaching subject equivalencies (e.g. Humanities courses) must be submitted to BEd Student Services, 128 Winters College, no later than December 1.

Teaching subject requirements must be satisfied by August 1, prior to the start of fall term classes in the Faculty of Education, in order for applicants to meet conditions for their offers of admission. Failure to meet all teaching subject requirements can result in the Faculty of Education rescinding the original offer of admission and withdrawing the applicant from the York University Bachelor of Education program.

In addition to all other admission criteria, applicants (Junior/Intermediate and Intermediate/Senior) may be required to meet specific teaching subject requirements in order to compete for entry into our programs. For additional details on teaching subject requirements, Intermediate/Senior candidates should visit <http://edu.yorku.ca/bed/intermediate-senior-is.html> and Junior/Intermediate candidates should visit <http://edu.yorku.ca/bed/junior-intermediate.html>. Applicants must have a minimum B average for the courses applicable to their selected teaching subject(s) as well as a minimum B average overall based on the final ten full-year (60 credits at York or equivalent) undergraduate courses. If applicants present more than the required number of courses, the average will be calculated using the highest grades. College diploma courses cannot satisfy any of the teaching subject requirements. Graduate (i.e. Master's and/or PhD) courses may be used towards a teaching subject only after undergraduate courses have been assessed.

APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS

An approved undergraduate degree with an overall grade point average of at least a B, based on the final two years (60 credits at York or equivalent) of undergraduate studies is required. An acceptable degree program must include at least 15 full-year undergraduate courses beyond secondary school graduation. Grades from diploma programs are not calculated into cumulative averages. Only undergraduate degree coursework completed at an accredited university will be used in the calculation of the academic average. For those applicants who are now completing their final year of an undergraduate degree, assessment of academic qualifications will be calculated based on courses completed as of December 1 and will not be recalculated if final marks are received after that date. Fulfillment of minimum requirements does not guarantee admission. A 14-point scale for GPA calculations is used.

Central to the strength of our program is the quality of those who are admitted. Applicants to the program undergo an intensive screening process which includes academics, experience profiles, reference forms/letters, interviews and personal statements.

Results of an on-campus interview will be needed to make final admission decisions. Please note that only related experience acquired prior to the deadline date will be considered. If granted an interview, you must book an interview which will occur in the month of February.

A+	14	90-100%
A-	12	80-84%
B+	11	77-79%
B	10	73-76%
B-	9	70-72%
C+	8	67-69%
C	7	63-66%
C-	6	60-62%
D+	5	57-59%
D	4	53-56%
D-	3	50-52%

Failure to attend an on-campus interview during the designated interview period will result in automatic disqualification for admission into York’s Faculty of Education. If applicants know in advance that they will be unavailable during the interview period, they are required to submit all admission materials (i.e. TEAS application, Faculty of Education online application, Supplementary application, references, etc.) to York University’s Faculty of Education by November 1 along with supporting documentation that verifies they will be out of Ontario or out of Canada during the entire month of February. We will not permit telephone or video-conference interviews.

PROGRAM EXPECTATIONS

Students in our Consecutive Teacher Education program are required to attend Education classes and weekly practice teaching placements during the daytime. Attendance and participation are mandatory. It is essential that other responsibilities do not diminish commitment to the program. Part-time employment is not advisable because of the length and intensity of the program and also due to the heavy practicum component. Additional aspects related to studying at York University will be addressed at these new student advising sessions.

MANDATORY ADVISING

Every admitted consecutive applicant is required to attend a new student advising session. Typically, these sessions are planned for May and early June. During these sessions, further details about the structure of the program, the delivery of courses and enrolment procedures will be discussed. Further information regarding dates, times and locations for these mandatory advising sessions will be made available once acceptances of offers have been received by the response deadline date.

Instructions for Experience Summary

Applicants will need to complete an online experience summary with the total number of hours of experience in the following categories: Classroom Experience; Volunteer/Community Experience; Work Experience Related to Teaching; Work Experience Unrelated to Teaching. Some experience related to the age group they wish to teach is an asset. It will strengthen an applicant's profile if the age-specific experience is in a classroom setting. Please note only experiences accumulated up to December 1 will be considered. Instructions on how to complete the online supplementary application will be sent to you once you apply. You can also visit our Web site at http://edu.yorku.ca/bed/apply_ft_consec.html for instructions.

Instructions for Experience Profile

In this section, you will list the activities you feel are pertinent to your application to the Faculty of Education. Please include start and end dates, number of hours and days per week, locations, contact people, addresses and telephone numbers. As well, for each activity, please describe what you learned from the experience as it relates to teaching and learning. This is restricted to maximum of 2 pages. We would suggest that you type this into a word document prior to starting your online application.

Examples:

Education Assistant from Sept 1997 to March 1998, (30 hrs per week 22 weeks, total 660 hrs)
Child Centred Public School, 1 Academic Road, Lessons, ON, Z1Z 1Z1, Mr. Ed Ucate, (123) 456-7890
I worked as an Education Assistant in Grades 3-4 classes and helped students with cerebral palsy develop gross and fine motor skills using wooden plinth tables and plastic rings. I also helped supervise children with and without disabilities during lunch.

I learned how to work effectively in a multidisciplinary team (teacher, physiotherapist, speech pathologist) to reach specific academic goals as well as therapy objectives. I encouraged children to be as independent as possible when they were eating, putting on their coats, and transferring themselves from the floor to their wheelchairs or walkers. I ensured all the students in the classroom were given choices to promote self-esteem.

Camp Counsellor from June 2000 to August 2000 (15 hours per week for 10 weeks, total 150 hours)
Happy Day Camp, 1 Happy Day Avenue, Campground, ON, A9A 9A9, Mrs. Mary Child, (111) 222-3333
As a camp counsellor for approximately 10-12 children, ages 6 and 7 years old, I provided child care supervision and led in age-appropriate activities.

I learned to motivate groups of children ages 6-7 and maintain a positive group environment. Camp activities were designed to promote the importance of respecting each other and working cooperatively together. Cooperative activities included craft projects, show and tell, painting a wall mural, and preparing for a presentation for the camp end-of-summer celebration. I learned to organize the children in group activities and lead discussions related to cultural diversity.

Instructions for Personal Statement

All applicants to the Faculty of Education are required to submit a personal statement of approximately 500 words as part of the online application. Again, we suggest that that you type your personal statement into a word document prior to starting your online application. This will allow you to keep your words under the limit and you will have the opportunity to spell check. Use the following guideline to write your personal statement:

Tell how your experiences with children and adolescents have shaped your understanding of the teaching and learning process in schools and/or in a community setting. Tell us how your background and educational opportunities have shaped your decision to become a teacher, and the advantages and disadvantages you have experienced.

ADMISSION DECISIONS

The faculties of education in Ontario will send offers of admission to successful applicants no earlier than April 1. After this date, offers of admission may be made as positions become available. Admission decisions will not be available on the OUAC website until April 3. Applicants are required to respond to offers of admission using the OUAC TEAS website. After submitting responses to offers of admission, applicants will be locked out of the application for one business day. Applicants must also accept their offer from York University with a $450 enrolment deposit. Both the acceptance online at OUAC and the $450 enrolment deposit should be submitted by the deadline stated in the offer of admission letter.

Applicants who are offered a conditional offer of admission should meet the conditions of their offer by August 1. Conditions of admission are noted in the applicant's official offer of admission letter.

It is the applicant's responsibility to ensure that the application information submitted is truthful, complete and correct, and that autobiographic and personal submissions are authored solely and entirely by the applicant. If any information is determined to be false or misleading, concealed or withheld, or written by a third party, the application will be invalidated and this could result in its immediate rejection or in the revocation of an offer of admission or registration at the university.

The Faculty of Education does not endorse or support presentations or publications other than their own and what is provided online through the Teacher Education Application Service (TEAS) at the Ontario Universities Application Centre (OUAC). Changes to admission policies can occur from year to year. It is advisable that applicants read the information package related to the upcoming entry point and not refer to admission information from previous years. Admission information for the current year may be subject to change.
